

SanIndus her technology can serve the old fashion type of backups. But new technology makes the old types of backups (designed in the tape era) just outdated, as they doesn't serve data integrity very good by just coping files as they are during the backup time. The snapshot technology gives a higher quality backup, as this provides an exact copy of all files on a certain second, regardless the backup time, serving exact data backup integrity of the data of one second.